Henriette Willebeek Le Mair was a gifted illustrator of children's books. Born in Rotterdam, Holland in 1889, her first book Premières Rondes Enfant was published in 1904, when she was only 15 yrs old. A child of creative parents who liked to draw, paint and write. She collaborated with her mother on three books of children's verses. Henriette illustrated the books while her mother wrote the text.

She was most prolific between 1911-1917, illustrating over 12 books. Le Mair ran an exclusive nursery school in her home and used this opportunity to draw images from life experiences.

As noted by writer Arthur Reddie, "She would have nothing but what is of simple beauty in her work as in her surroundings, and while her deep and sympathetic comprehension of children makes her very keenly alive also to their humour, which is amply apparent throughout her work, she introduces nothing ugly or terrifying to mar her drawings.

Finally, to sum up and reiterate what it is that pleases one most in this delicate and graceful art; it is the skill with which these decorative compositions are treated, the accuracy of draftsmanship, the perfection of technique evinced in the exceedingly delicate and expressive line and the simple and beautiful application of the harmonious coloring, and lastly—and this is possibly the most outstanding feature of Miss Le Mair's art—the rare grace with which she captures the beauty and fragrance of that tender blossom we call childhood."
